

At a meal, briefly discuss Saul's transformation on the road to Damascus. He went from a really bad man to an example for us to follow. Have each family member name one habit or attitude he or she would like to change. It may even be a characteristic he or she would like to develop (learning to rise earlier, becoming a better listener, etc.). Write the goals on a piece of paper and display them so they can be seen throughout the week. Encourage each other throughout the week.

God changed Saul's life on the Damascus Road and He can change ours through His grace.
